Heads Up

Dear parents

What a beautiful start to the week!

It was a bit chilly when I got to school because the boiler wasn't working but we carried on regardless until it was sorted out. Repeat situation on Thursday but the children didn't complain at all – very hardy!

It's our last swimming lesson next Tuesday and the leisure centre have asked that all the children bring a t-shirt and a pair of shorts. If the boys already wear shorts-style then that counts.

Thanks to everyone who sent in colour themed gifts for the PTA Christmas raffle today. If you would like to help the PTA with any of their Christmas activities, please let us know. We need donations to run the Christmas shop on Christmas Cracker Day on Monday 20th December so if you have any unwanted gifts (or fancy a trip to Home Bargains?) that the children can buy (£1 or £2), please send them in on Thursday 16th December so we can organise the shop.

Please can you ensure that children bring a reusable water bottle to school every day? Bottles should go home each evening with children to be washed and returned the next day.

Finally, a note on my apparent criminal activity whereby I failed to pay my car tax resulting in my car being clamped. The shame..... Anyway, it turns out that the dealer I bought the car from, despite taking rather a lot of money from me and an MX5, failed to register the car as belonging to me. So I didn't receive the reminder to pay the tax as DVLA thought the car belonged to the dealer (Holdcroft Mazda, in case anyone wants to know). Thanks to Mrs Turner for taking me home and Vicky for bringing me in on Tuesday. Also for the offer of the bolt cutter/grinder /whatever it is that you would use to cut a clamp off!

I hope that you have an enjoyable weekend.

Kind regards

Joanne Bromley
