

Heads Up

Dear parents

It has been a quiet, getting down to business kind of week in school. Next week, we have the excitement of the planetarium to look forward to, paid for from a science grant. Thanks to Poynton High School for letting us use their more spacious facilities.

The Spelling Shed is working!!! The children have clearly enjoyed playing the games at home and at school because the spelling test results in class 3 were noticeably improved this week. Well done to everyone and keep up the good work.

Thanks to everyone (all two of you) who joined the internet safety workshop. We are hoping to forward the PowerPoint shared which contained some useful tips. Please do take note of what your children are doing on the internet. This short youtube clip might explain why I am mentioning this again: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i4GKXsAOYZE>

We have attached a list of dates for the term which includes a parents evening, hopefully face-to-face for the first time in over two years. Fingers crossed.....

I hope that you have an enjoyable weekend.

Kind regards

Joanne Bromley
