Dear parents

LOCKDOWN 3, week three = DONE ✓

Dear parents

Thank you to everyone who met us on zoom this week, it is really lovely to see the children and important for them to see their friends. We understand how difficult it is to juggle home-schooling with everything else you have to deal with ordinarily, never mind during a lockdown due to a global pandemic. I hope that you are all still sane. Please remember that we are here for you if you want to talk. It doesn't even have to be about school.

Next week, we are due to start lateral flow tests for staff twice weekly with the aim of breaking the chain of transmission when people have COVID but are asymptomatic. Hopefully someone in authority will recognise soon that it would be a good idea to vaccinate teachers and other school staff as a priority to keep us all safe at work.

Our lovely yoga teacher, Milena, is making a video for everyone at home to do a yoga lesson, hopefully every week starting from next week and this will definitely benefit everyone's mental health. More details to follow.

Something else which you may be interested in is the RSPB garden bird watch. It only takes an hour of your time and it could be part of home schooling, possibly leading to some follow up work drawing and identifying garden birds for example.

Oak academy have introduced a school library section to their website where each week an author will share a reading from one of their books. This week is Jacqueline Wilson which I would say is definitely for key stage two. I hope they will have some books for younger children in the future.

I hope that you enjoy some relaxing family time over the weekend.

Kind Regards
